Once a year Scott Kelby hosts his Worldwide Photo Walk® for a variety of reasons. It gives photographers around the world the opportunity to come together and share their passion with other like minded people. Friendships are made and we are able to share a bit of our world with the rest of it.

One of the biggest reasons why we run this event is to raise money for the Springs of Hope Orphanage in Kenya. Springs of Hope endeavors to transform the lives of orphaned, abandoned, and abused children in Kenya. Currently, they are the home for approximately 50 children who have lost their parents or have found themselves in abusive or dangerous home situations. Each year, with the help of our walkers and leaders, we are able to raise money that is vital to keeping Springs of Hope's mission alive.

There are already lots of walks in cities around the world. To join a photo walk near you, go to worldwidewalk.com sign up for a walk (it's free – it's all free), and I'll see you on Saturday, October 7th.
